

MUSEUM,

The Largest In the World,

To Be Erected by University of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 6.—The largest museum in the world will be erected in this city on the ground now occupied by the buildings used at the time of the National Export Exposition. The museum will be known as the Free Museum of Science and Art and will be under the control of the University of Pennsylvania. The plans call for an extensive group of buildings, one of which is already finished, and provides for the outlay of about $2,250,000.

The museum will be governed by a Board of Managers, some members to be appointed by the University of Pennsylvania and others by the Pennsylvania society.

The demolition of the National Export Exposition buildings will begin in a few weeks, and as soon as the ground is cleared work will commence on the new museum.

The Museum of Archaeology was organized in 1889 to provide for instruction and original research in those branches and for the incidental formation of illustrative collections. In 1891, in consequence of the great interest manifested in this museum and the successful extension of its work, it was constituted a department of the university.

The object of this department is to further archaeological research and afford instruction in archaeological and cognate science. The department is at present continuing the explorations in Babylonia, inaugurated in 1889, and is engaged in collecting archaeological and ethnological data in various parts of the world. It maintains the present museums in which are exhibited the results of its explorations comprising American, Babylonian, Egyptian and Etruscan antiquities and engraved gems, as well as ethnological collections from various parts of the globe. This includes comparative collections of musical instruments, games, fans and other objects.

The university received the ground from the city upon the condition that it should erect a museum on it.

Cure Catarrh by Nature's Own Method—Every Breath of Hyomei Brings Relief.

Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try to cure it by dosing the stomach. Temporary relief may be given, but a cure seldom comes.

Until recently your physician would have said the only way to cure catarrh would be to have a change of climate; but now with Hyomei you can carry a health-giving climate in your vest pocket and by breathing it a few minutes four times a day soon cure yourself.

The complete outfit of Hyomei costs but $1.00 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, and there is enough Hyomei for more than a month's treatment of catarrh. If one bottle does not cure, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c. It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that follows nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

The leading druggists of this city have sold hundreds of Hyomei outfits and the more they sell, the more convinced they are that they are perfectly safe in guaranteeing to refund the money if Hyomei does not cure.

Those who are subject to catarrh or catarrhal colds will do themselves an injustice if they do not purchase a Hyomei outfit at once, so as to be prepared for the sudden changes of the season.

MRS. JENNIE MORRIS,

Secretary of Poinsettia Benevolence Society.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

693 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., March 22, 1902.

Only a wife and mother can fully understand the grand benefit which Wine of Cardui is in cases of barrenness and pregnancy. After five years of married life most of the time in ill health, with irregular, scanty and extremely painful menstruation I became completely discouraged. I kept getting worse and worse. The doctor said that if I could have a child I would be much better, but inflammation had set in and I was in such poor health generally that I was simply unfit to be a mother. My sister had a beautiful boy and she told me what benefit she had derived from Wine of Cardui so my husband decided that we would stop the doctor's visits and try Cardui. I wish I had only known of this before. What misery I would have been spared! But I was grateful for the speedy relief I obtained, and so pleased to find that I gradually was returning to health, happiness and new life and hope. Within four months I was like a changed being and now found that the long hoped for happiness was to be mine as I expected a child. I kept taking Wine of Cardui all through my pregnancy and a lovely daughter blessed our home. Childbirth was almost painless and my husband and I both thank you a thousand times for the sunshine and happiness Wine of Cardui brought to our home.

Jennie Morris.

THE greatest ambition of men and women is to have happy homes blessed with healthy children. Because wives are weak and sick thousands of homes are barren and desolate. How many there are today suffering irregularities and bearing down pains, menaced with the probability of becoming childless wives. Thousands of heretofore childless wives are becoming mothers by having these troubles relieved by Wine of Cardui. This great remedy so strengthens the organs of motherhood that nervous, discouraged women who want children but who fear the suffering caused by childbirth, go through motherhood with little trouble. By strengthening the organs weakened by sickness Wine of Cardui makes all this possible. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception, does prevent miscarriage, does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer and treat yourself in the privacy of your home with this great remedy. Where digestive disorders exist a small package of Theford's Black-Draught should also be used.

ducks are very scarce this season. Dozens of Akron sportsmen, who have gone out in other years and had at least a measure of success, have been out during the past week and have returned empty-handed and cold, after a day of lying in wait.

Some ducks have been seen since the season opened, and a very few have been bagged, but the number has remained very small up to date. The season will close December 16.

Coughs, Colds and Constipation.

Few people realize when taking cough medicines other than Foley's Honey and Tar, that they contain opiates which are constipating besides being unsafe, particularly for children. Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates, is safe and sure, and will not constipate.

Baby

Weighed Only Five Pounds.

Restless, Cried Day and Night.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Did Wonders, Cured Her.

A little over two years ago I had a little, nervous baby who weighed only five pounds at birth. At first she was restless and cross and after she was four weeks old she cried day and night, and would not sleep without narcotics. She was so nervous that we did not dare to move when she did sleep a short time, as she would wake screaming as though she was going to have a fit. We called a doctor, he called it infantile colic, said he could relieve her, could not cure her. After a short time the effect of his medicine wore off and I was in despair. I tried all known home remedies and innumerable patent medicines. At last I gave her Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and she was easy and slept without narcotics. Since that time I have used a dozen bottles and would not be without it. I am now giving it to another baby and it has the same effect, immediate relief always. —Mrs. Vincent Zick, Verona, N. J.

"Three years ago I was taken with nervous prostration, which brought on heart trouble, and my heart would palpitate at every little noise. I had smothering spells so that at times I would nearly sink away. I put one bottle each of Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure and I could feel good results from the first few doses. They have since effected a permanent cure. I recommend Dr. Miles' Remedies to all who suffer as I did." —Mrs. G. C. James, Fairmont, Nebraska.

SOOTHING SHOPPING.

A Peaceful Experience at the East Norley General Emporium.

The exhausted shopper sank upon the sofa, while from the open mouth of her reversed Boston bag poured a cascade of little parcels, freshly struggled for at the Monday bargain counters.

"Oh," she cried, "why does one have to shop in the city? Everything is so hurried, confused, complex, distracting and nerve destroying! If I were only back at East Norley!"

"Last summer while I was there I had to buy a yard of dark blue ribbon, and I drove over to the one store at the crossroads to get it. It took some five minutes to convince the amiable proprietor that I really wanted dark blue and could not be persuaded to accept light instead, which he considered more suitable and becoming to a fair complexioned person of my years; he added reassuringly that anybody under forty was not too young for baby blue."

"Another five minutes were given up to his incredulous reluctance to believe that two inches wide would not do as well as three, especially as the three inch width had been mislaid on a top shelf and he would have to get a step-ladder to get it down. Several more minutes passed in the search for the ladder, its laborious portage from the cellar, its erection and repair with a piece of twine, the braces being broken, and his final ascent to the dim and dusty upper region, whence the box of wide ribbons was at length produced.

"I found a shade that would do, and he leisurely measured off a yard, fingered it, then paused to rub a perplexed ear and smile frustratingly.

"Fact is," he confided sweetly, "I sold the last pair of scissors in the store just before you came in, and I've forgotten my Jackknife. It's kind of awkward cutting it off, but I'll manage somehow. I guess there's an ax in the shed."

"He carried the silken roll away with him as he started with comfortable deliberation to find the ax, which, though the hunt for it was long and persevering, evidently could not be found, for we caught a glimpse of him at last through the half open door to the back shop severing the required yard of ribbon with an old chisel.

"It was all so serene, so soothing and so satisfactory! I believe I shouldn't be a wreck before New Year's every winter if I could only do my Christmas shopping at the East Norley general emporium." —Youth's Companion.

His Question.

Sister—You've seen Mrs. Newpop's baby, haven't you?

Brother—Yes, but I'm afraid Mrs. Newpop must think I don't take any interest in babies.

Sister—Of course, if you don't ask questions about it.

Brother—But I did ask a question; asked if it could sit up on its hind legs and beg yet, and she wouldn't answer.

Scotch Oil Trade Booming.

London, Dec. 6.—The Scotch oil trade is booming in consequence of the depletion of the American crude oil stocks and the refusal of the British government to allow the Standard Oil Co. to augment the stocks at Barmah. The Scotch oil prices are now the highest in years.

Patience With Eccentricity.

Many of the leading people in English society regarded Thomas Carlyle with a feeling almost akin to reverent delight when he chose to behave like an ignorant boor in their drawing rooms, even taking his seat, it is said, unbidden in the presence of the queen. This generation, however, has little patience with such eccentricities.

It was an English bishop who, when the historian Freeman had worn out his patience with his rudeness, introduced him to a waiting audience as "the distinguished scholar that so admirably describes and illustrates the savagery of our ancestors."

An Offhand Answer.

"Who can tell me the meaning of leisure?" asked the teacher.

"It's a place where married people repent," replied the boy at the foot of the class.—Philadelphia Record.
